We thank thee, O God, for a prophet . . .

President Spencer W. Kimball, in the center, Prophet, Seer, and Revelator of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, twelfth in this dispensation, with his counselors, President N. Eldon Tanner and President Marion G. Romney.

In Memoriam: 1899-1973.

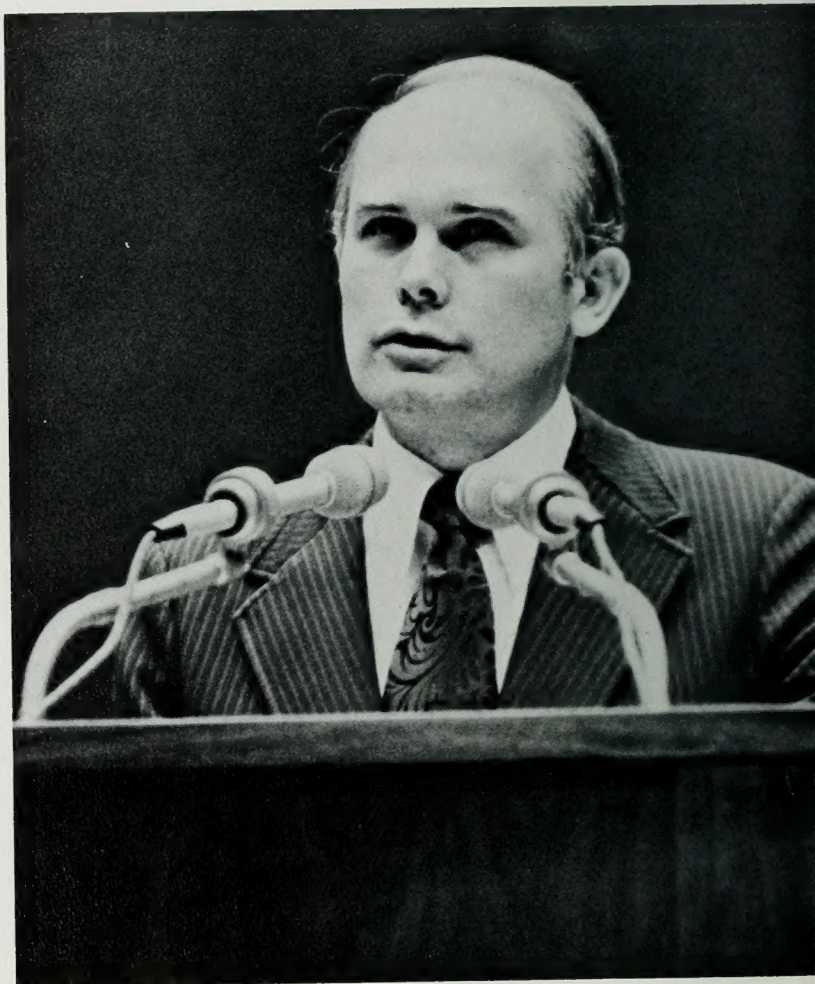

... To guide us in these latter days.

President Harold B. Lee, Prophet, Seer, and Revelator of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, eleventh in this dispensation.

We thank thee for good teachers and leaders . . .

*. . . that have had the patience to stick with us
when things were tough
and the wisdom to know
when we were in need of counsel.*

*We appreciate the little corner of heaven
we have to come home to after a long day at classes, friends we have made, the good family which has made this possible . . .*

... and the counsel to truly love one another.

We are very grateful for the toil and sweat and late nights . . .

. . . that resulted in greater knowledge and high academic achievements.

*For our families, loved ones,
eternal truths, our environment . . .*

... we are eternally grateful, Father ...

And we should not tolerate the destruction of our surrounding environment . . .

... for the selfish purposes and thoughtlessness of others.

*We thank thee
for the tall mountains and clear blue skies
—for the beauty of the earth . . .*

. . . for grey skies and snowy peaks to shelter us from the dangers of the world.

We cannot begin to express to thee our love and gratitude . . .

*. . . for the great blessings,
spiritual as well as material,
which thou hast showered
upon us.*

We thank thee for the laws and standards we have been invited to follow here . . .

. . . knowing that they have been preparing us to be better Christians and better citizens of the nations of the earth.

We thank thee for all of these things we have learned at Brigham Young University . . .

. . . we walk in the straight and narrow path towards life eternal and thee.

"For Behold, this is my work and my glory—to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man."

Moses 1:39

Board Of Trustees

One of the greatest powers that God has given us is the power to radiate his life and teachings. He has created us, given us life and breath, and also teaches us daily.

*— quoted in "Especially For Mormons",
by Stanley E. Miller*

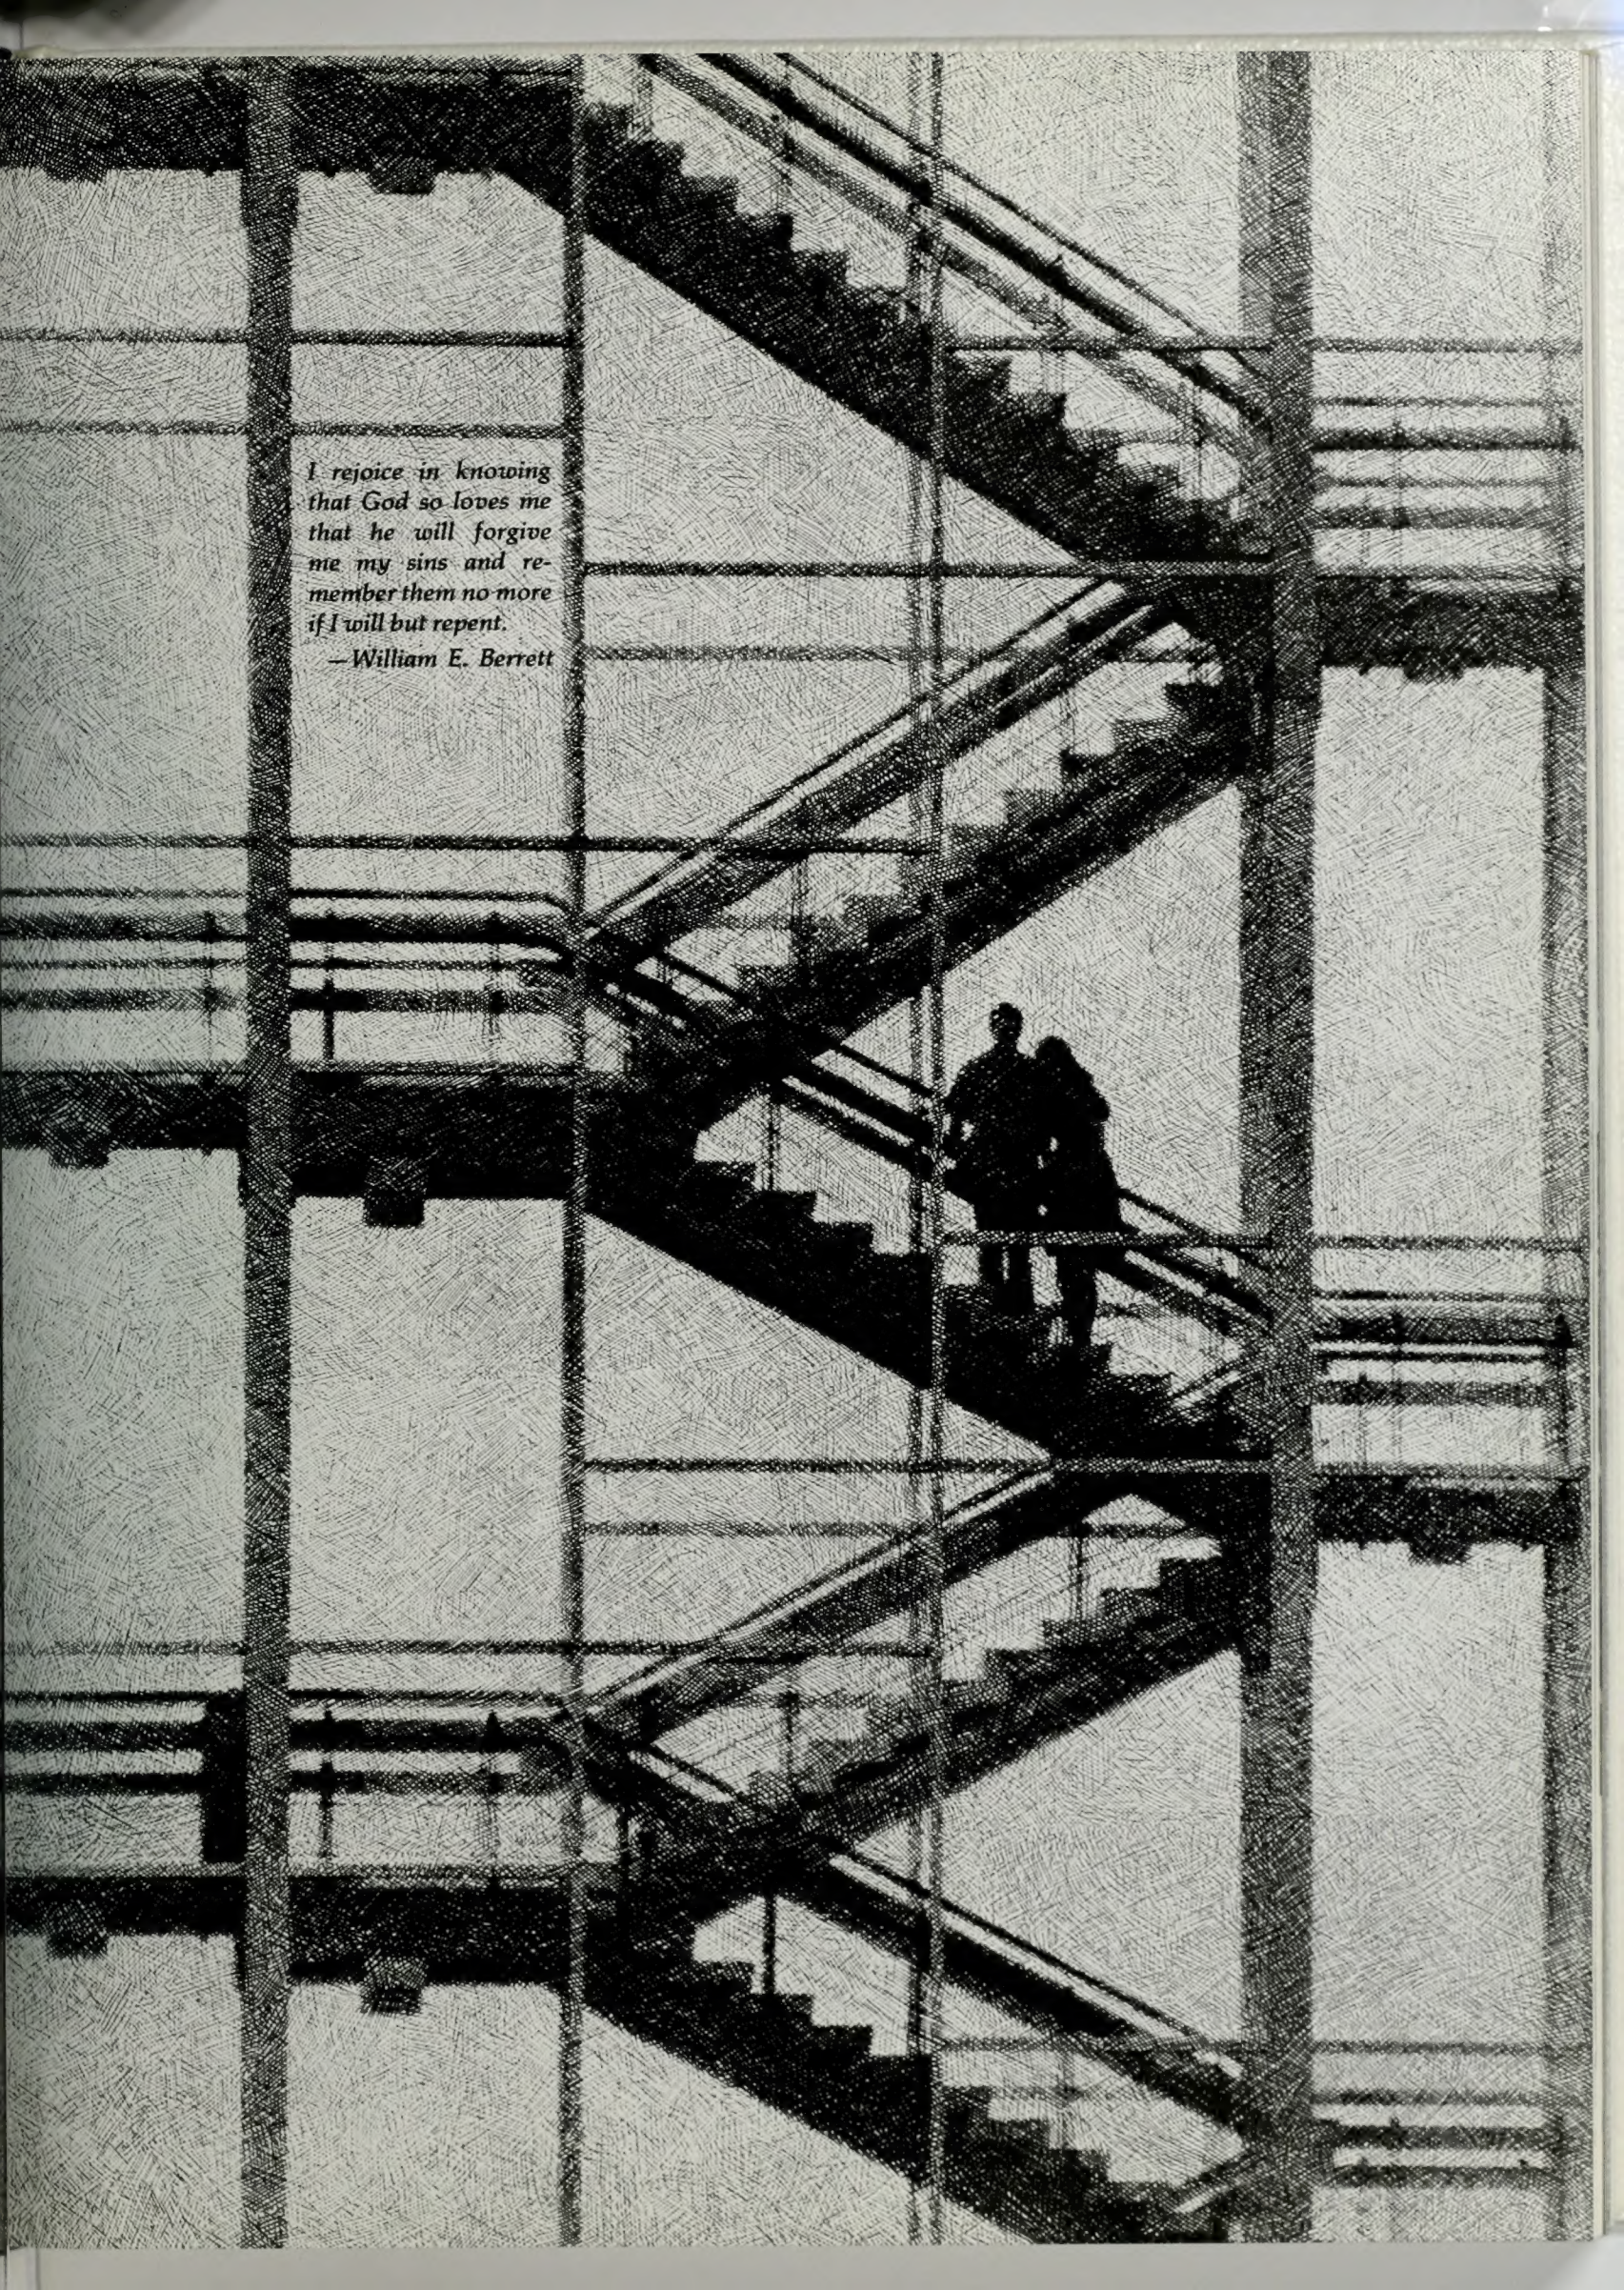

It is a great privilege for us to be led by those who are closest to the Lord of the men on this earth today. The Board of Trustees, The Church Board of Education, these people lead and direct our University in the ways of righteousness, as they see fit. They have the guidance of the Master, the Prophet presides. We can be assured that we are not asked to follow anything at this school which is not the will of the Lord.

UNIVERSITY LIFE

*I rejoice in knowing that God so loves me
that he will forgive me my sins and remember them no more
if I will but repent.*

—William E. Berrett

I sometimes wonder if we are willing to pay the price of an answer from the Lord.

—Bishop H. Burke Peterson

Pray that we do keep talking about families. If we stop, then you and all the others will be the losers.

—Elder James E. Faust

My strongest desire is to qualify to be a friend of Christ.

—Elder Marton D. Hanks

For me, it isn't exactly popular to say... I have often said, "It will be soon for soon it will be too late."

—Elder Elroy L. Christensen

We can show that we love mother if we incorporate into our lives the truths she taught.

—Elder Thomas A. Monson

I testify that this is the true church. I also testify that Harold B. Lee is a true prophet and that the gospel of Jesus Christ is more precious than

—Elder Rex D. Pinegar

It is important in our day to rely on the spirit to guide us in the music with which we surround ourselves... Choose from among the sacred music of the church.

—Elder Boyd K. Packer

The spirit of the Lord will not dwell in a home where there is constant bickering...

—Elder Henry D. Taylor

It behooves us to guard our families with the same care and diligence that we guard our own souls.

—Elder O. Leslie Stone

We should determine whose side we're on . . .

—Elder Delbert L. Stapley

The Word Of The Lord . . .

143rd Semi-Annual Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

We should consciously elect to ponder the things of salvation in our hearts . . . If we're going to work out our salvation, we must concentrate on the Lord.

—Elder Bruce R. McConkie

repentance from sin, and baptism by immersion in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and the peace which the Lord promisseth unto them. "My peace I give unto you."

—Elder B. H. Young

I know that Jesus Christ was the first-born of the Father . . . The gospel he taught is the one and only means whereby men may fulfill the full measure of their creation.

—Pres. Marion G. Romney

I have a theme song I would like to have you adopt for the next three years. I would like to have you sing it each morning as you arise . . . the hearts and spirits of your family as you begin anew. The song is this: "Have I Learned My Lesson Today?"

—Elder L. Tom Perry

What is the purpose of religion? . . . our Father in Heaven (God) is the Father of our spirits.

—Elder L. Tom Perry

Our Love

When I think of you, this question I will recall the words of the Lord: "What is it that thou art minded to do? and the spirit saith that thou rememberest me?" . . . I would charge you to say again and again, as the primary teachers have taught the children, I am a son or I am a daughter of God . . . I thank God for you, and I pray with the sobbing mother, "O Lord, I know that thou art the Father, the Father of the living God."

—Pres. Harold B. Lee

I bear you my personal witness that I know it is the marvelous work and a wonder that God promised he'd send to us through his prophet.

—Elder LeGrand Richards

Somebody once said that money cannot buy happiness, but it does enable one to pick out the particular kind of misery he enjoys most.

—Elder Sterling W. Sill

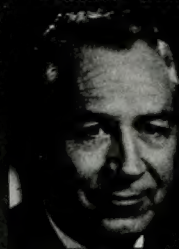

Listen to our message. Give it prayerful consideration. We have the truth.

—Elder William H. Bennett

Yes, the Lord will help us if we do our part . . . Are you doing your part? . . . May the Lord bless each one of us to accomplish our goal in life.

—Elder Eldred G. Smith

He who is the highest of all chose to be addressed simply as "Father".

—Elder A. Theodore Tuttle

Look to the prophets for the word of the Lord; to prepare for the calamities to come . . . It would be well if every family could have on hand grain for at least a year . . . Men should seek honorable employment . . . The saints have been advised to pay their own way . . . Thanks be to God for this inspired program; What a marvelous way to become a savior on Mount Zion! . . . The revelation to store food may be as essential to us today as boarding the ark was to Noah.

—Elder Ezra Taft Benson

Girls, let me tell you something. Because of your great potential and influence in the lives of all of us, Satan is determined to destroy you.

—Pres. N. Eldon Tanner

How beautiful in the eyes of the Lord are those who take the time to lift the needy hand.

—Elder Marvin J. Ashton

To be a great leader, we must first be a great follower . . . We must first love the people we are called to serve.

—Elder Hartman Rector, Jr.

Our message to the world is that God lives.

—Elder Victor L. Brown

Our actions demonstrate if we are working to become like God or the world.

—Elder Mark E. Petersen

This conference has brought us words of exhortation, instruction, and warning.

—Pres. Spencer W. Kimball

This is how we establish Zion where we live: by living the gospel.

—Elder James A. Cullimore

We should commit ourselves wholly and completely to the cause of God . . . Take heed that ye totally commit yourself with all your heart, might, mind, and strength.

—Elder Theodore M. Burton

Jesus Christ is our savior and stands at the head of this church.

—Elder Gordon B. Hinckley

The Lord has asked us to be perfect, as our Father in Heaven is perfect.

—Elder Bernard P. Brockbank

We pray for our saints everywhere and hope that they will hold steadfast . . . Without the Book of Mormon and the word of the Lord, we have nothing . . . If you want to know what the Lord would have us know and do for the next six months, get a copy of these proceedings . . . There has never been a conference covering so many different subjects . . . Keep his commandments and listen to his voice . . . Brothers and Sisters, this is the day spoken of.

—Pres. Harold B. Lee

What happens here at 10 a.m. each Tuesday is as important as any other activity of the University . . . Our University studies should be a time of seeking and stretching . . . There is absolutely no reason for anyone to leave at five minutes to eleven. We will all leave these assemblies together with the closing prayer.

—President Dallin H. Oaks

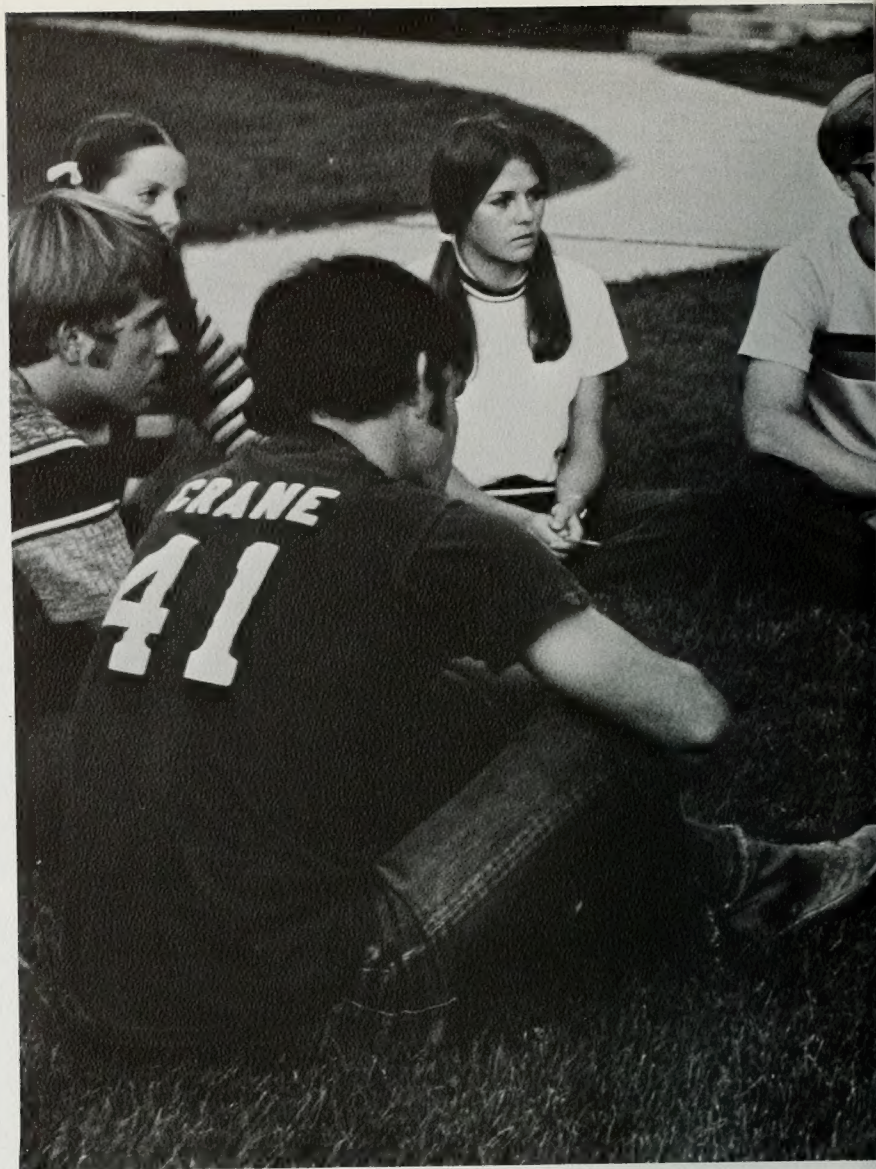

We shall continue to invite outside speakers of stature and will call upon the resources of our faculty for edification, insight, and inspiration. A university education stands for a depth and breadth of understanding you do not find in any single class or even in any major . . . If you stay away from a forum assembly because you are not interested in the subject or because you think you cannot benefit, you deny the promise and potential you declare by enrolling in a university.

Chef Harold Rogerson demonstrates making spaghetti for BYU Food Services, left. Students, faculty and others enjoy the "smorgasbord" each Wednesday in the Skyroom. Main cafeteria is always packed during the meal times.

Getting Adjuste

A BYU student, Ross Fox, struggles through his first three days in Provo.

Our concern must be to impress our associates with the fact there is a better tomorrow, and it belongs to those who live for it!

—Elder Marvin J. Ashton

At right, ASBYU Activity Advisers Joann Parry and Klea Worsley enjoy a friendly conversation. George Pace, far right, shows one of the many aspects of love we overlook—counseling and guiding others. Below, a young child issues a silent plea for love and attention. How often do we overlook those closest to us who give these same pleas?

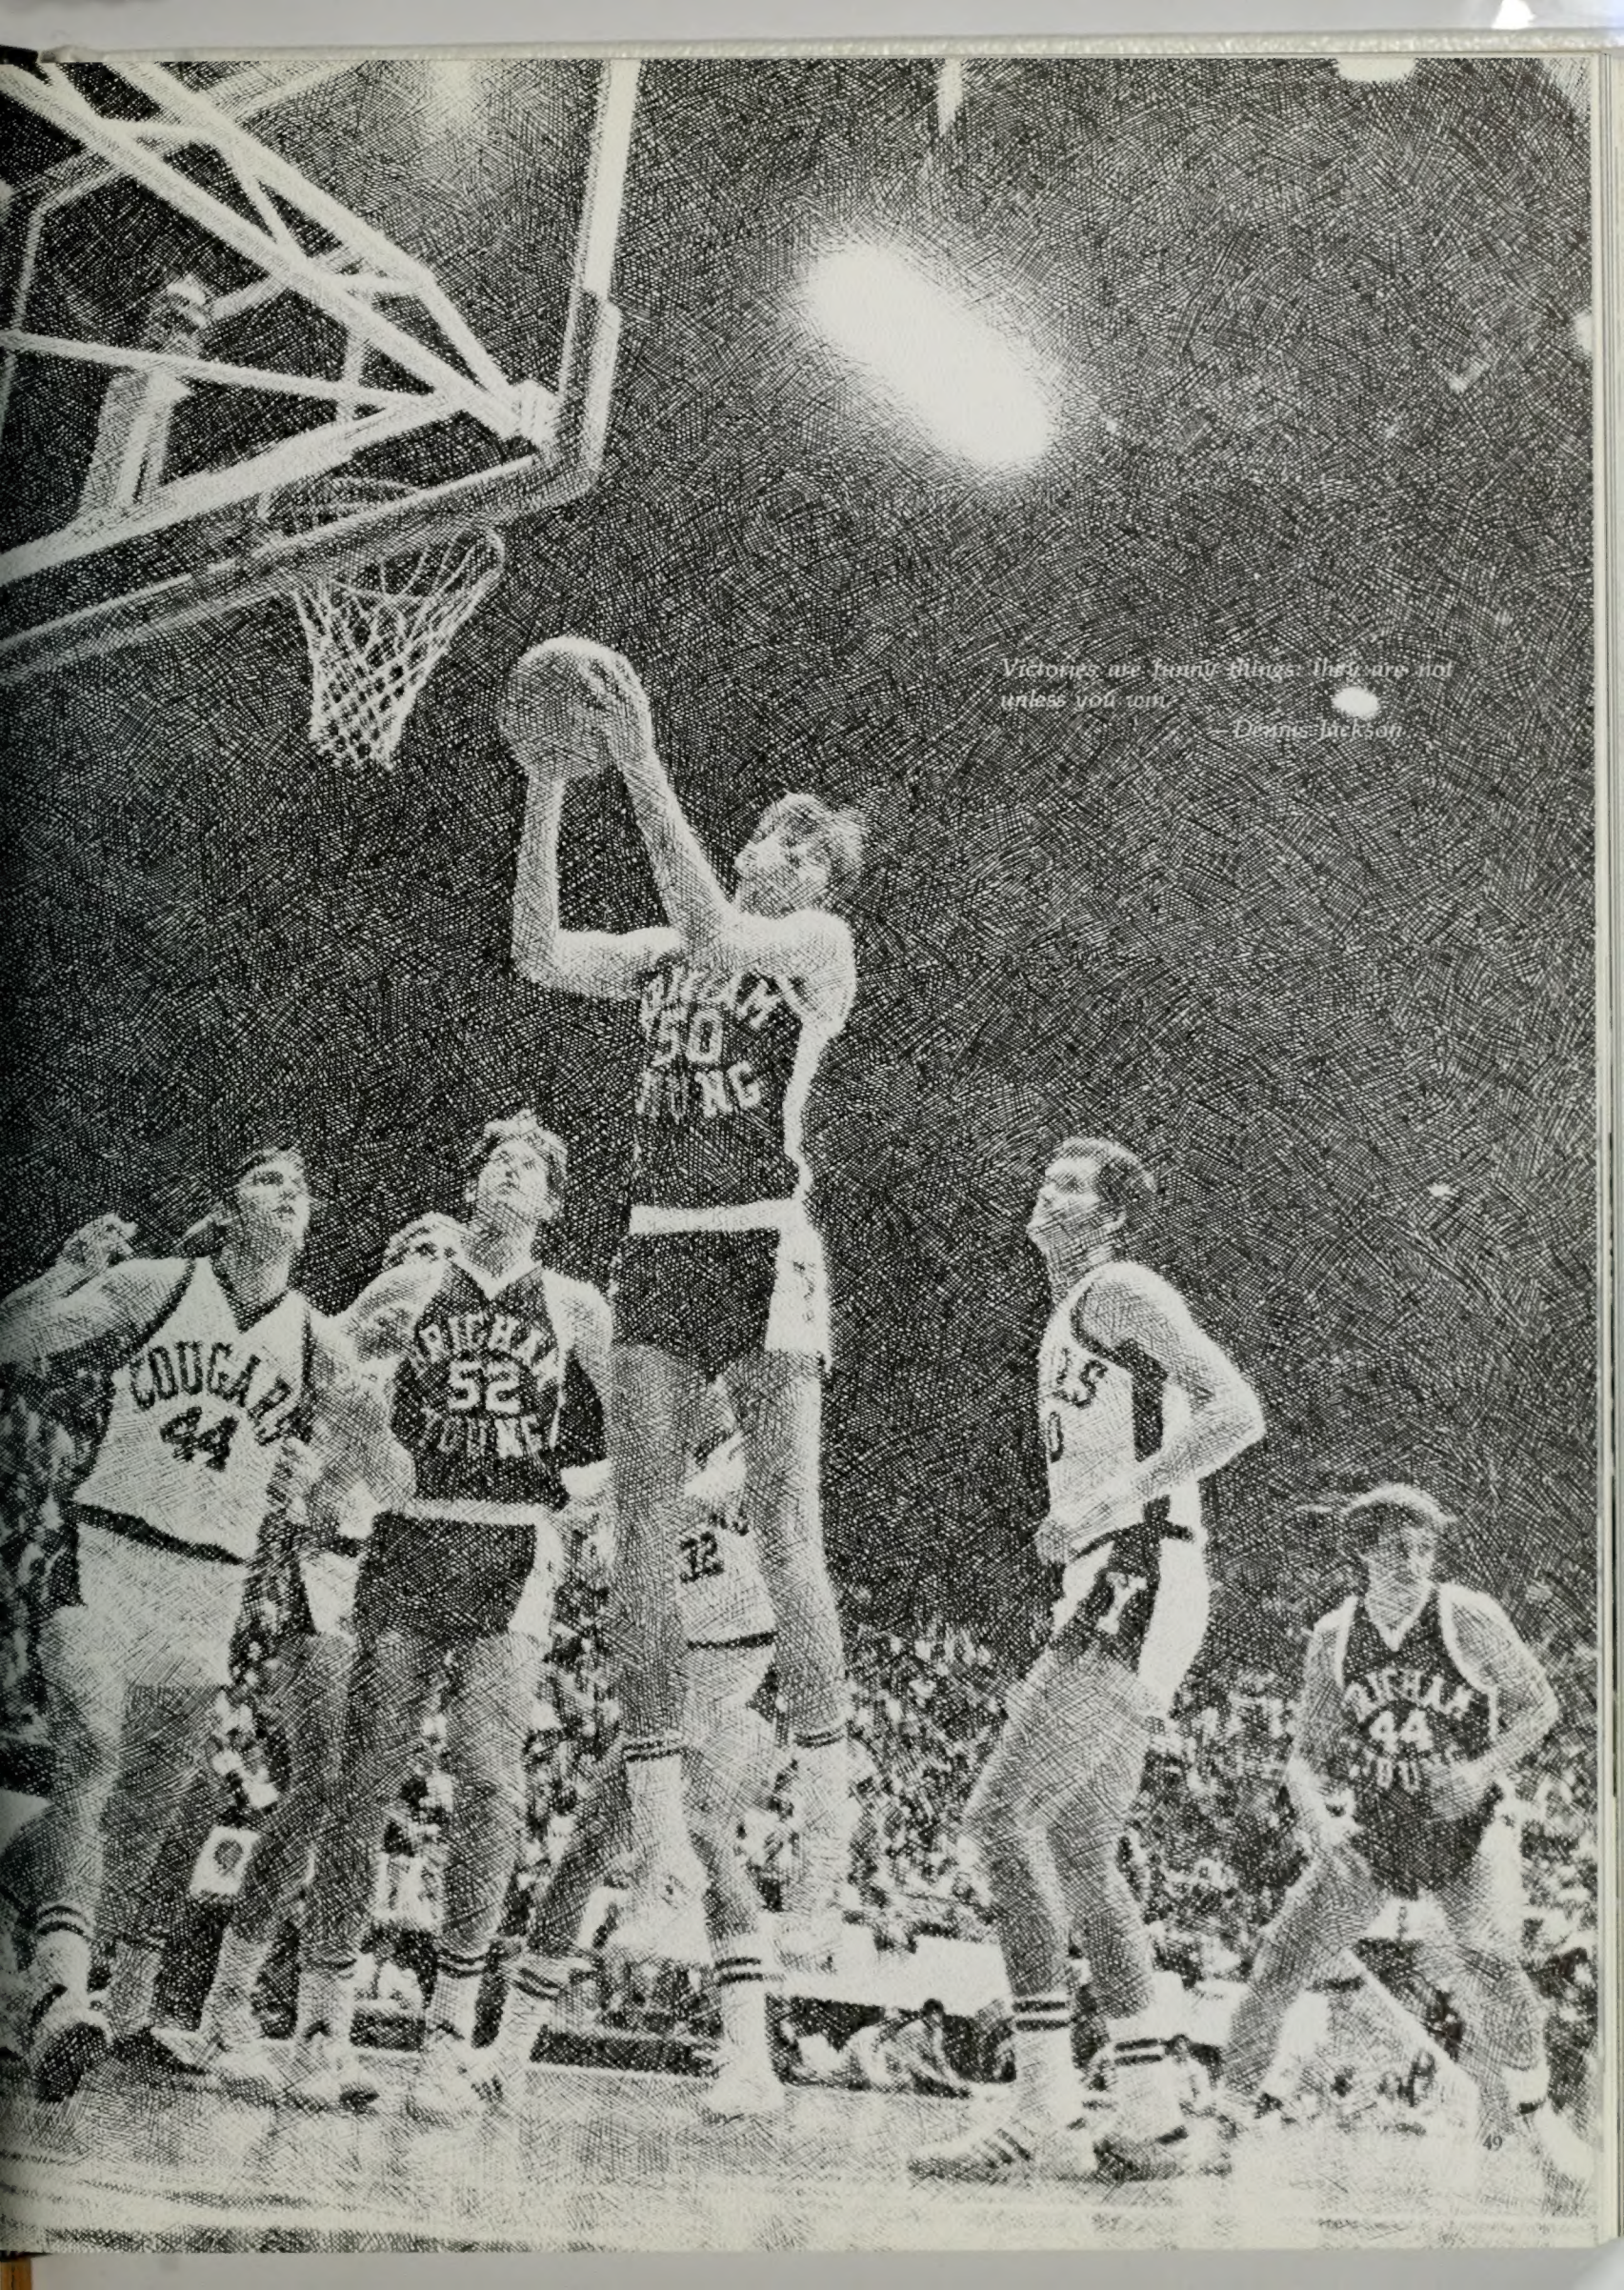

A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.

By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.

—John 13:34-35

And life and one alone we have to live upon this earth.
One life is much to leave so much — to seek and find and prove our worth.
So many dreams there are to dream — so many things to learn and do.
So many responsibilities to climb, so many pitiless restraints.
So many we live on flimsy quests that get lost somewhere in the end.
The God of Time is prone to squander, we with care to lose and spend.
He tells to postpone good deeds. Tomorrow many comes their day.
The future lands belong to God. Your only chance is now — today.

The American Indian is just entering the threshold to his great progress and growth. To one who has been close to the movement, the progress is most satisfactory. With their inherent power and their rich promises, we must count them in.

And the gospel of Jesus Christ shall be declared among them; wherefore, they shall be restored unto the knowledge of their fathers, and also to the knowledge of Jesus Christ, which was had among their fathers.

—2 Nephi 30:5

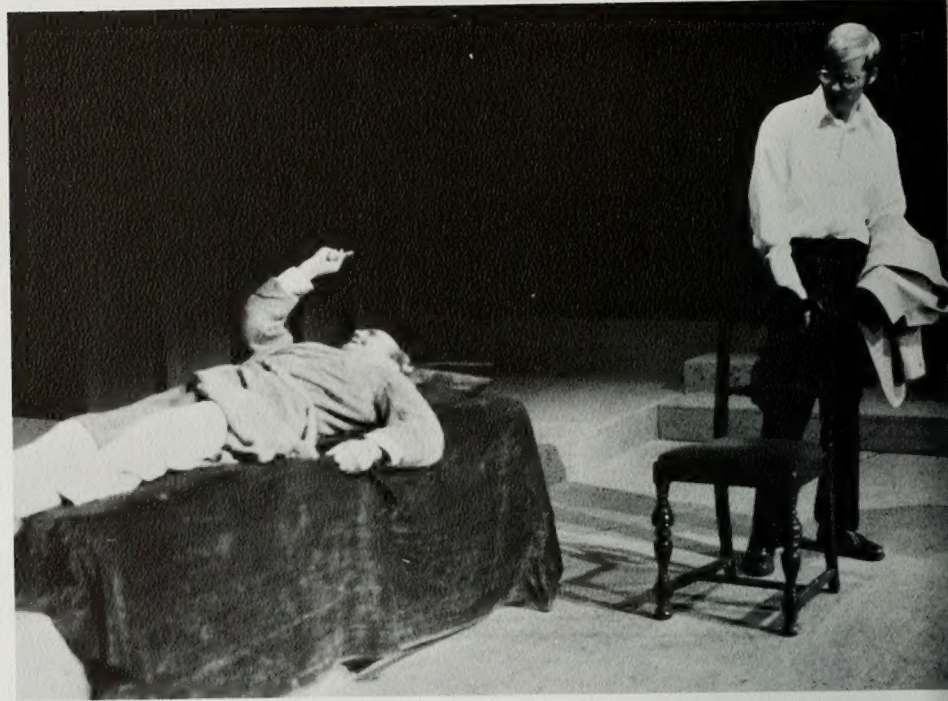

We often hear Indian youth bearing their testimonies, saying with considerable emotion: "I am proud that I am an Indian. And, I am proud that I am a Mormon Indian." Now that they are tasting the pride of accomplishment and feeling the spirit of acceptance, a new dignity has come to them and they are a proud, delightful people.

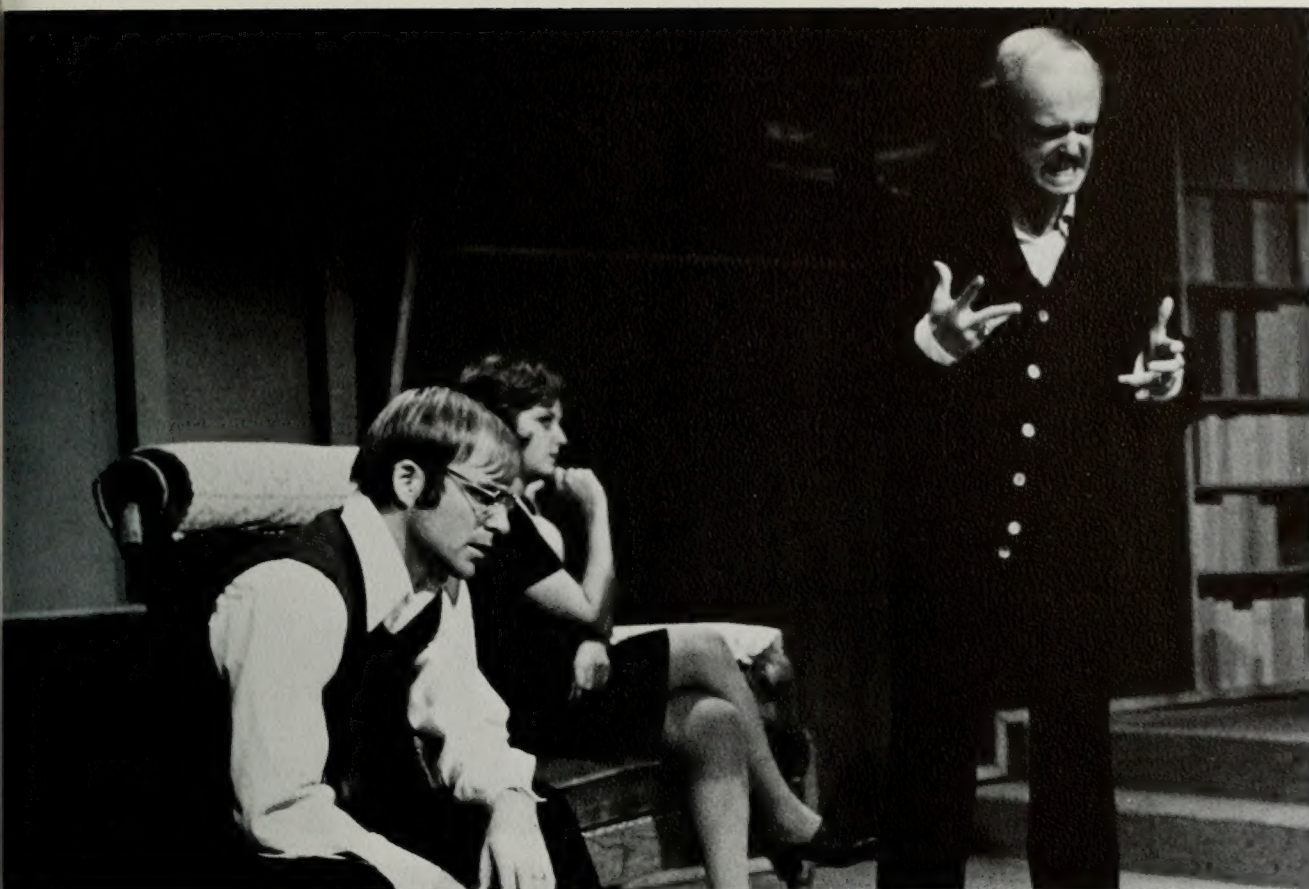

—Pres. Spencer W. Kimball

I Never Sang For My Father.

We are told by psychologists that from the moment a child is born he becomes, and for the rest of his life is, recipient of a host of impressions, varying in degrees, according to his biological disposition to react to them; he becomes, in part, a product of his environment, according to how he reacts mentally and physically.

Preference

The Lord is eager to see their first awakening desires and their beginning efforts to penetrate the darkness. Having granted freedom of decision, he must permit man to grope his way until he reaches for the light.

—Pres. Spencer W. Kimball

Concerts

Adam fell that men might be; and men are that they might have joy.

—2 Nephi 2:25

During the year many different concerts are presented at BYU. The music ranges from Rock to Symphonic. Many people enjoy them, many voice their displeasure. Some of the groups come dressed in proper attire, some of them not quite BYU standards. All of them are chosen for the enjoyment of the student body. The types of concerts presented at a school says much for their values. Perhaps it would be well to remember that we must set an example. As well must we remember that we must have good manners to all of those whom we do invite.

Lord God in Heaven,
 Let me speak to thee, and say the things that are in my heart!
 Chastize me for I have sinned and I repent.
 I denied my Master and now he is dead.
 He was my strength; my salvation.
 Help me, O Lord!
 He said I should be a rock—
 Be thou my rock, O Lord, and I will be thine forever.
 Let Jesus return to us. Let the light of his face be seen in the world again.
 He told me he is thy Son, and we are all his brothers.
 Be thou my Father in Heaven, and I will be thy son on earth, and do whatever you command.
 . . . Be with me, Forgive me, in Jesus name,
 Amen.

Director's Note:

The play was written in 1777 when Sheridan was twenty-six years old. It is recognized as one of the most brilliant comedies in the English language. This is a comedy of manners depicting the language, customs, and fashions of the leisure class in England during the latter part of the eighteenth century. Although the play was written in George Washington's day, the characters are selected from universal molds which are still in use.

Sing A Song Of Christmas . . .

"Praise to the Lord!" The true spirit and meaning of Christmas are annually celebrated best in song; the spirit of Christ—He for whom we rejoice, and so little remember.

It's Christmas Time

Christmas—the time of year when all minds and hearts are turned to our Beloved Savior. Why is it that it takes a seasonal holiday to remind us of him who has never forgotten us? His face beams in every tree all about us . . . In every flake of snow . . . every drop of rain . . . and through the trees we see a small stable and hear the soft cry of a newborn babe. But, is that a tear in his eye, or a drop of blood . . . shed because we have forgotten him? May we, at this season, again bring him into our lives and resolve to “always remember him.”

—CKG

*For unto us a child

Wonderful, Coun-

lasting Father, The Prince of Peace.*

FACULTY

We believe in being honest, true, chaste, benevolent, virtuous, and in doing good to all men; indeed, we may say that we follow the admonition of Paul—We believe all things, we hope all things, we have endured many things, and hope to be able to endure all things. If there is any virtue, or any knowledge, or any counsel, or any thing which is true, or of good report or praise worthy, we seek after these things.—Thirteenth Article of Faith

The ultimate end of all of the activities in the Church is aimed at seeing a father and a mother, a husband and a wife, and their children happy together at home.

— Elder Boyd K. Packer

Dallin H. Oaks, president of Brigham Young University, and his family are great examples of what a family should be. We have many opportunities to see him as President, but not enough to see the man, the father, the family leader, and his family. He is truly a great man, with the interests of the students at heart, and more important, with the interests of the Lord and that of his servants, the First Presidency, deeply engulfed in his heart. It is such a sobering, and yet comforting thought, to know that the man who leads this school is inspired of the Lord. It is a great example and an equally comforting thought to see his beautiful family, and to recognize their high standards. Truly a man is led by his family to become a leader, and we can see that he has been well supported by his loving wife and children. The students of Brigham Young University can be proud to know that these good people are playing such a vital role in the life of the Church, as well as in the lives of the students.

Nothing does itself—that is, nothing constructive. Someone has to do everything. Lessons don't learn themselves; classes don't teach themselves; machines don't make themselves; skills don't develop themselves; projects don't plan themselves; buildings don't build themselves. Air Force ROTC

Each Tuesday students at BYU have noted the distinguished blue uniforms of the Air Force ROTC cadets on campus. At other times they have seen Air Force cadets participate in color guards at major campus events and have thrilled at the dignity and patriotism displayed during many flag retreat ceremonies.

Wherever BYU Air Force ROTC cadets are seen they are truly regarded as members of an elite group. Nationally, the AFROTC program at BYU ranks second in size, which, in itself, is a tribute to the calibre of young men attending Brigham Young. In addition, Air Force cadets have continually returned with honor to BYU and have ranked repeatedly among the most decorated detachments in the nation. The major goal of our cadets is that of service; service to their God, service to their country, and service to their fellowmen.

We would like you to keep that in mind, because if you are called upon to fight, remember that you will be fighting for more than just an ordinary cause. You will be fighting for the United States, which was set up by act of God for the purpose I have described. The Lord told the Prophet Joseph Smith that our constitution was written by men whom God inspired. He raised up these men specially and inspired them to write this great document. And then, by revelation, the Lord told the Prophet Joseph Smith that the members of this Church are to protect and guard this constitution

... He said that He would justify us in defending this constitution and this way of life. And so, therefore, when we are called to go to war and fight in defense of this country, we fight also in defense of this Church. We fight also in defense of the Gospel itself and the great principle that the Lord has given the Gospel to the earth again in these last days, to pave the way for the glorious second coming of Christ.

BYU Changes And Achieves

Among the many changes recently at BYU is the Tri-mester System, which has now finished its first year successfully at BYU. It enables students to finish three semesters of work in one school year with still two months of summer vacation remaining. This would enable a student to finish school in three years at a normal speed. It also makes it possible for students to be more at ease in their work loads for a semester. A major scientific achievement at BYU this year has been "Topolotron". This mathematical equation, still in an experimental stage, may be the greatest discovery of the century. The hydrogen car became a reality. This is one to keep our eyes on, with the gasoline problem as it is now becoming. The hydrogen car is a greatly sought after asset, since hydrogen is the most available element in our environment.

During the 1973-74 school year, many buildings were named and dedicated. Some of them are shown here. The library, previously the J. Reuben Clark Library, was renamed the Harold B. Lee Library in honor of our late prophet. Because of the progressing J. Reuben Clark Law School, this change was both possible and needed. The Engineering Sciences and Technology Building was dedicated. The James E. Talmage Math Science and Computer Building and the Joseph K. Nicholes Chemistry Stores Building were also among those dedicated. The progress at Brigham Young University is indicative of the great growth in the Church.

I cannot too much impress on your mind that labor is the condition which God has imposed on us in every station in life; there's nothing worth having that can be had without it, from the bread which the peasant wins with the sweat of his brow, to the sports by which the rich man must get rid of his boredom. As for knowledge, it can no more be planted in the human mind without labor, than a field of wheat can be produced without previous use of a plow. Labor, therefore, my dear boy, and improve the time. In youth, our steps are light, and our minds are receptive, and knowledge is easily laid up, but if we neglect our spring, our summer will be useless and contemptible, our harvest will be chaff, and our winter of old age unrespect-ed and desolate.

Monthly, they present speakers of representative religions for the enjoyment and educational enrichment of the students. It offers a welcome union for the students, particularly for the non-Latter-day Saints on campus. Many of the students fail to realize that there are quite a few non-members on the campus as well. We must all strive to enrich each other and to respect each other's beliefs. It is hard for us to realize that even though we believe our views are correct, they are not the only views representative among men. Christian College Fellowship is an organization helping students of all religions to learn more and respect each other's beliefs.

—President Spencer
W. Kimball

For as many years as I can remember the question has been, "How is your father?" My response to the question most often is to detail the latest news of his health and then add, "He still works harder than anyone I know." In this often-repeated exchange I am continually reminded of three major facts about him.

First, he is a widely known and loved man. Wherever I go people tell me about encounters with him—his remembering a name after years without contact, pulling on overalls to help his host milk the cows, writing individual letters to the parents of missionaries met during mission tours, giving his overcoat to someone who needed it more, and on and on—and they sense about him a dedication to the work of the Lord and a concern about them personally, which warms their feelings toward him and their memories of him.

Second, though he is no hypochondriac and suffers stoically through it all, he has had during his amazing active life enough illnesses to make one wince simply at the listing. It is no wonder then that when someone asks about my father, it is typically to inquire about his health. However, considering his health history and his age - 77 - he is in amazingly good condition, having over a period of months since April, 1972, largely regained his strength after heart surgery so drastic as to have significant mortality rates in men his age.

Third, his capacity for work is phenomenal. He works hard and effectively and with rare dedication. Since his acceptance of the call as a General Authority, he has not stinted in his labors.

The Centennial Staff

Now in its 99th year, Brigham Young University looks forward to a year-long celebration of its founding in 1875. The Centennial staff, under Dr. Lorin F. Wheelwright, will correlate a series of events which will reveal the past century as a magnificent prologue to a glorious future.

The Y has flourished because it has provided its students a rich educational environment in which faith and reason could be developed and nourished. The Centennial theme will express the fundamental values of the institution which have resounded through the first century as love of God, pursuit of truth, and service to mankind.

Services honor prophet

By CECILIA HARRIS
Universe Asst. News Editor

The BYU community joined millions world-wide in mourning the untimely passing of President Harold B. Lee, eleventh president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

President Lee once termed "a spiritual giant with faith like that of Enoch" by the late President Joseph Fielding Smith died unexpectedly of cardiac and lung failure on Dec. 26 shortly before 9 p.m. during a routine medical check at LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City.

He was 74 years old.

He had been president of the Church for less than 18 months, the shortest term of any Church president.

With President Lee at the time of his death were his wife; his daughter, Mrs. L. Brent (Helen) Goates, her husband and daughter Jane; President Marion G. Romney, second counselor in the First Presidency; President Stephen W. Kimball, president of the Council of the Pres-

President. Nathan Tanner, first counselor in the First Presidency, was in Phoenix at the time of President Lee's death.

"We are stunned at the death of President Harold B. Lee," said President Dallin Oaks in a letter to President Kimball. "The entire Brigham Young University grieves at this great loss to the church and education."

"President [redacted] has been one of the Master and His [redacted] has served."

then

Many national leaders also sent messages of condolence to the family of President Lee and the general authorities.

"As President of the church and as an educator, missionary, businessman and public official, President Lee's influence for good has been deeply felt," said President Richard M. Nixon in a message to President Kimball.

"The Church's successful welfare program that began in the 1930s gives just one example of how President Lee's administrative and

Funeral services for the late president were conducted Saturday at 12:15 p.m. in the Salt Lake Tabernacle. President Spencer W. Kimball presided at the services, and being several of his favorite hymns. The Tabernacle was under the direction of Condie.

Over 5,000 people were in attendance at the services, which were also televised live. "I doubt if anyone in the Church has prayed harder and more consistently for a long life and general welfare," President to him and for him. How we loved him," he said.

"A giant of a man," he continued, "a man endowed with a rare native intelligence, he recalls a thousand experiences over the terrain of time, a unique gift to quickly get the heart of matters under consideration and quickened by a capacity to discard extraneous information thus freeing the mind for decisive action."

“He must have a great mission to perform on the other side of the veil,” said N. Eldon Tanner, apostle to President Hoover, in his eulogy. “His passing is no great loss to his friends, his community, the Church, or the world.”

Petition would put revision up for vote

By YVONNE STACEY
Universe Staff Writer

A constitutional revision proposed by ASBYU President Mark Reynolds and Executive Vice President Richard Wilson will be circulated among students via petition. The proposed constitution appears on page 10 of today's

The decision to constitute a new constitution will be discussed at a meeting of the council members on Tuesday. According to

Reynolds, eight members of the council would need to approve any constitutional change before it may be placed on a ballot without having first obtained 1,250 signatures.

A motion was made by Michael Whitaker that it be placed upon the council's approval in tonight's meeting. Also, if the petition being circulated did not obtain the necessary 1,250 signatures, the five supporters of the petition, Reynolds, Wilson, Mac Haddow, Tapie Rohm and Kirk Rector would pay for it.

In the meeting, Waddoups objected to the proposed constitution because the new system would allow the president to appoint students to his cabinet as payment for services rendered during his campaign and would "increase graft and corruption." Another of his objections was that there would not be as many programs as now because "it will be very cumbersome."

"Another concern I have is the UIA," contested Waddoups. "It looks like another drain on funds that will take away programs."

Wilson countered the objection by saying that the constitution should place the students in a petition because, "It should not go with council sanctions."

Mac Haddow said "This last refusal represents the third occasion when the council as a group has refused to hear and review this constitutional revision according to its merit. It is clear that the Executive Council is wholly incapable of purging itself of its inequities and inefficiencies."

R. Michael Whitaker, activities advisor to student government said, "We're looking over the new constitution. We haven't come to a real conclusion, but to me it looks like what we had in 1967."

Whitaker continued that he was a student at BYU when a senate-type of government was in operation. He said there were problems with attendance and interest on the part of the senators. Whitaker said, "Mark Reynolds is basing the whole thing on the thing the UIA" to do something to the budget matters. He continued, "what happens when the assemblymen no longer care about the UIA?"

Rick White, another student government activities advisor said he didn't know whether the proposed constitution was an improvement over the present system of government because all his experience has been with the current vice-president type of government.

White said some of the possible advantages to the new constitution would be "separating the authority to budget money from those who administer the programs." He added that "There is sometimes a problem of being objective and relating with other offices' requests and budgeting yourself money."

He said he liked the possibility of the assembly getting involved in local state and national issues, but said, "Are there enough issues to keep the assemblymen meeting regularly?"

He also expressed doubts on the commitment of the cabinet and the possibility of positions being given as political rewards.

No exams scheduled says dean

A final exam schedule will not be printed because not enough teachers requested the longer examination period, according to Dr. Robert Spencer, Dean of Admissions and Records.

"We found there was really no need to have a final examination schedule, rather we are on a program outlined by Pres. Oaks, wherein all evaluations will take place within regular class periods," Dr. Spencer said.

He explained there will be no final exam week for teachers administering so two exams. A special exam, but the Registrar will be Dr. Spencer.

Honor, character stressed by Oaks

In an address to the assembled student body and faculty at Tuesday's devotional assembly, President Dallin Oaks emphasized the importance of honor and character in the educational process.

Oaks means of addressing the Brigham Young University community to emphasize a vital dimension of difference that distinguishes us from many other teaching institutions.

"This difference our conviction that we have a responsibility to teach honesty and other gospel principles needs to be understood by every unit of the academy."

Oaks explained that the philosophy as established by the board of trustees and faculty, has affirmed that the development of character is as important as any other academic endeavor on campus.

"Karl G. Maeser, the founding genius of this university, taught that no other accomplishments recompense for a virtuous life. Franklin became President 32 years ago, and that the 'true spirit' of Brigham Young University 'places character above learning' and 'looks toward eternal progression.'"

"In my own inaugural address I observed that the enormous resources devoted to this institution could not be justified if we did not provide a unique educational experience. What is unique is the dimension of character."

Semester Abroad continues

Despite the recent conflict in the Middle East, 24 BYU students left Salt Lake City Sunday to participate in the winter Semester A study program in Jerusalem. Robert C. Taylor, director of the program, said, "We feel that in view of the pressure from both the United States and Russia, the United Nations presence at the cease-fire lines, we have now entered another period of relative calm which will prevail for some time during which Biblical sites can be visited with safety."

Other Travel Studies winter semester participants include 29 students who will be headquartered in Paris, 29 in Madrid and 51 in Salzburg.

W-2 forms available

The BYU payroll office has completed preparation of W-2 Forms for all employees and a call went out this week for the faculty, staff and employed students to pick up these forms this week.

Payroll Director MacCene Grimmett said yesterday, "W-2 Forms, the record of earnings for 1973, will be available for pickup at the Payroll Office, D-55 ASB, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 10 and 11."

"Starting Monday, Jan. 10, all remaining W-2 Forms will be mailed to the appropriate offices. Gross amounts, social security and state income taxes."

A maximum speed limit of 55 m.p.h. went into effect Sunday at the Utah State Capitol. According to Myron Taylor, Maintenance Engineer for the Utah State Capitol, the new signs have not yet been installed.

Taylor said signs along the Interstate should be completely installed in Utah County by Jan. 17. Signs will then be installed along the primary and secondary roadways, and their placement should be complete by March 1.

The new speed limit was ordered by Gov. Calvin L. Rampton Jan. 7 in response to recent federal legislation.

The Utah Highway Patrol is presently enforcing the new limit with a minimum of difficulty due to previous widespread publicity, according to one highway patrol dispatcher.

Night driving limits and city speed limits will not be affected.

Owens will speak on Nixon survival

Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah, will initiate the Thomas Jefferson Lecture Series for Winter Semester with a speech Wednesday at BYU.

The speech will be given in the East Ballroom of the Wilkinson Center at 4 p.m. All students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Rep. Owens, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, will discuss the question: "Can Nixon Survive?" He will also discuss possible ways of avoiding Watergate. Following the speech, Owens will answer questions from the audience.

Wayne Owens, a native of Salt Lake City, graduated from the University of Utah with a law degree and is a member of the Utah State Bar.

Owens served as state legislator from 1964 to 1968. In 1968, he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. From 1969 to 1970 he served as administrative assistant to Senate Majority Whip Edward Kennedy. He held the same position with Sen. Frank Moss from 1970 to 1971.

In 1972, Owens defeated incumbent Congressman Sherman Lloyd to represent Utah's Second Congressional District.

American oil embargo hopes fade

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conference of 13 energy consuming nations began cautiously Monday, seeking some way to agree on "rules of conduct" for buying foreign oil without appearing to threaten oil-exporting countries.

Opening the two-day conference, U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the bilateral oil agreements by individual nations could not solve the problems and might well make them far worse.

"We believe that it is essential that these arrangements follow agreed rules of conduct," Kissinger said.

The European nations at the conference have been pressing for an early meeting of both consuming nations and oil-producing nations.

Those attending the session include foreign ministers, finance chiefs and energy experts from the United States, Japan, Canada and Norway and nine members of the European Common Market: France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Great Britain, Italy, Denmark, Ireland, Luxembourg and Belgium.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria appears to have dashed American hopes for an early end to the Arab oil embargo.

Newspapers reported Monday that Syrian President Hafez Assad won firm pledges from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait to continue the embargo until the Syrians sign a peace pact with Israel.

Syria's Foreign Minister Nureddin Khaddam said the move was a "settle for nothing" in an Israeli effort to "total" oil from Arab lands conquered both in 1948 and 1967 wars.

The ministers are to discuss the oil embargo against the United States at a meeting in Tripoli, Libya, on Feb. 14. The reports hinted at what may be set for a new oil embargo.

A pro-Egyptian newspaper, Al Anwar said that Syria's King Faisal II said he "will support Syria" in the presence of the Syrian government through the oil embargo against the United States.

BYU students, faculty and staff are being encouraged to turn down the heat, turn off unneeded lights and leave the car home when there is a less-wasteful way of getting around.

These suggestions are among a list of energy-saving policies and principles adopted by the University and announced by Pres. Dallin H. Oaks.

Following are some of the salient points from Dr. Oaks' statement on energy conservation:

"We have adopted the following policy principles on conservation of energy. All personnel of the University should follow these principles."

"The University's efforts to conserve energy will be coordinated by Dean A. Peterson, administrative assistant to the president, who is the appropriate person to receive all suggestions for implementing this policy....

"1. Reduce heating-season room temperatures to 68 degrees. It should be understood that this will require different thermostat settings depending on solar heating from window exposure and other conditions affecting room temperatures.

"c. Reduce use of artificial illumination during working hours where natural light is sufficient for safety, good health and effective work of building occupants.

"d. Reduce lighting levels in non-working areas.

"e. Eliminate the use of portable electric heaters in University buildings, except for emergency or where other heating sources are inadequate.

An Arizona Fuel Lines tanker which turned over in Provo Canyon Wednesday is estimated to have caused a loss of $34,000, according to Ed Scovill of the Utah Highway Department.

The tanker, owned by and tractor-trailer unit of control, was involved in a crash on the highway at about 7 p.m. The accident occurred on the highway.

The 8,000 gallons of hot crude oil made an estimated loss of $1,000 with the remaining $33,000 loss resulting from the total wreckage of the trailer and tractor. The extent of oil damage on the environment has not been determined as of yet, Scovill said, but the Vern Dunn Construction company administration told it intended to lift the controls on wages and prices.

Cost of Living Council Director John T. Dunlop, who outlined the administration plans, said consumers could expect some additional increase in prices as a result of lifting of controls.

He said this would result from realignment of some prices that have been held down; the removal of built-in delays on price increases by big companies, and testing of the market by some companies to see how high they can raise prices.

Dunlop implied present controls had outlived their usefulness despite the prospect of continuing inflation.

"Under the economic conditions anticipating the lifting of controls on wages and prices, the administration is seeking commitments for price restraints and actions from industry and labor during the decontrol period.

The administration is turning the Cost of Living Council into an umbrella economic inflation and to activities of federal agencies.

He noted that congress already has granted separate authority to continue controls over the petroleum industry until February 1975. Those controls are administered by the Federal Energy Office.

Dunlop indicated the administration would reluctantly seek to continue controls in other areas as well if the need arises between now and April 30.

He suggested the Cost of Living Council in its proposed new setup would

What is the goal? A book. A real book, and a very special book that people are going to get excited over, cherish, and keep on the shelf in their home the rest of their lives—dragging it out occasionally to look up the name of that gal that sat next to them in algebra.

It used to be said of a Mormon that his word was as good as his bond. Once a Mormon gave his word, you could rely on it. Even if it meant a personal sacrifice of money, time, or effort, once he gave his word you could depend on him to do as he promised. Is the same thing true today?

Some years ago two of our little boys were wrestling on the rug before the fireplace. They had reached the pitch—you know the one—when laughter turns to tears and play becomes a struggle. I worked a foot gently between them and lifted the older boy (then just four years of age) to a sitting position on the rug, saying, "Hey there, you little monkey, you had better settle down." He folded his little arms and looked at me with surprising seriousness. His little boy feelings had been hurt, and he protested, "I not a monkey, Daddy—I a person." I thought how deeply I loved him, how much I wanted him to be "A person"—one of eternal worth. For "Children are an heritage of the Lord . . ." (Psalms 127:3) ard, make me an instrument of thy peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love. Where there is injury, pardon. Where there is doubt, faith.

here there is despair, hope. Where there is darkness, light, and where there is sadness, joy. Oh Divine Master, grant that I may not so much ek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love. For it is in giving that we receive, it is in rdoning that we are pardoned, and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

"Mormonism," so-called, embraces every principle pertaining to life and salvation, for time and eternity. No matter who has it. If the infidel has got truth it belongs to "Mormonism." . . . All that is good, lovely, and praise worthy belongs to this Church and Kingdom. "Mormonism" includes all truth. There is not truth but what belongs to the gospel.

Humor In Photo Files

—Mark Philbrick

Of the hundreds of pictures that are taken at sports events on campus, only a handful are ever published. The photo department decided that we would give readers a glimpse of some of the pictures that just didn't make the news.

The serious aspect of inter-school athletic contest has been shown over and over in pictures. This page shows a few comical things that happen on the field.

Left: Rugby players learn to carry the balls many ways. Number 35 tries it his own way — on the nose. Above: "Hey Bill, what makes it float like that?" Below: One . . . how many more? . . . two . . . I promise never to do it again coach . . . three . . .

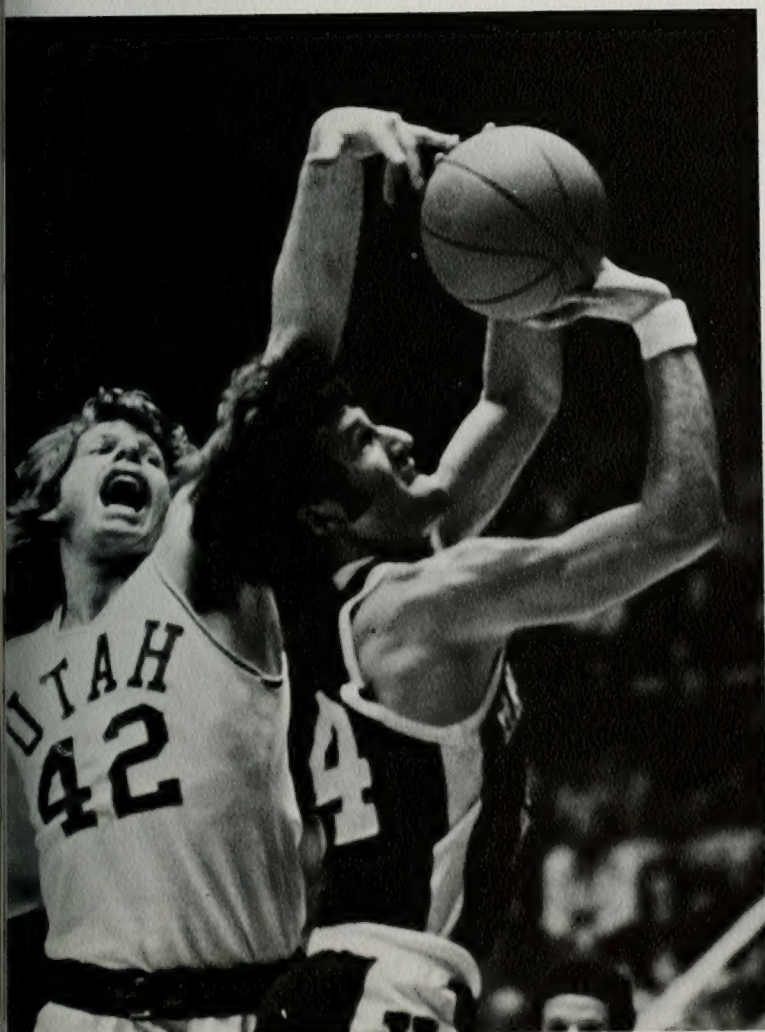

The idea of the long jump is to land feet first. This jumper tries his own approach, spreading rays of sand on bystanders.

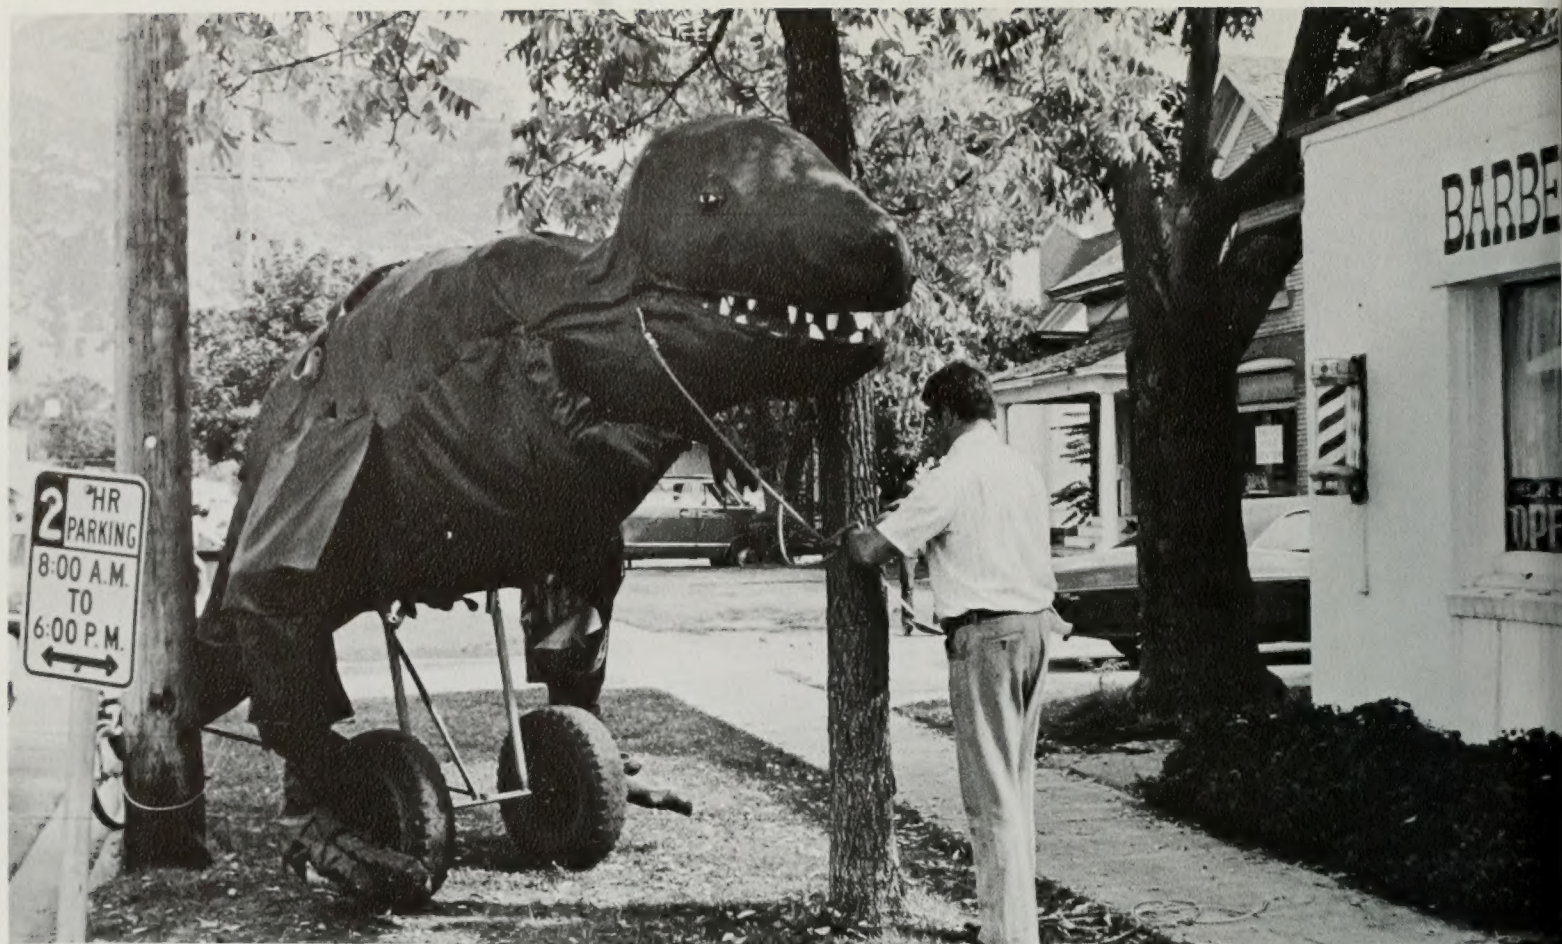

"And by the touch of this finger I turn you into a watermelon."

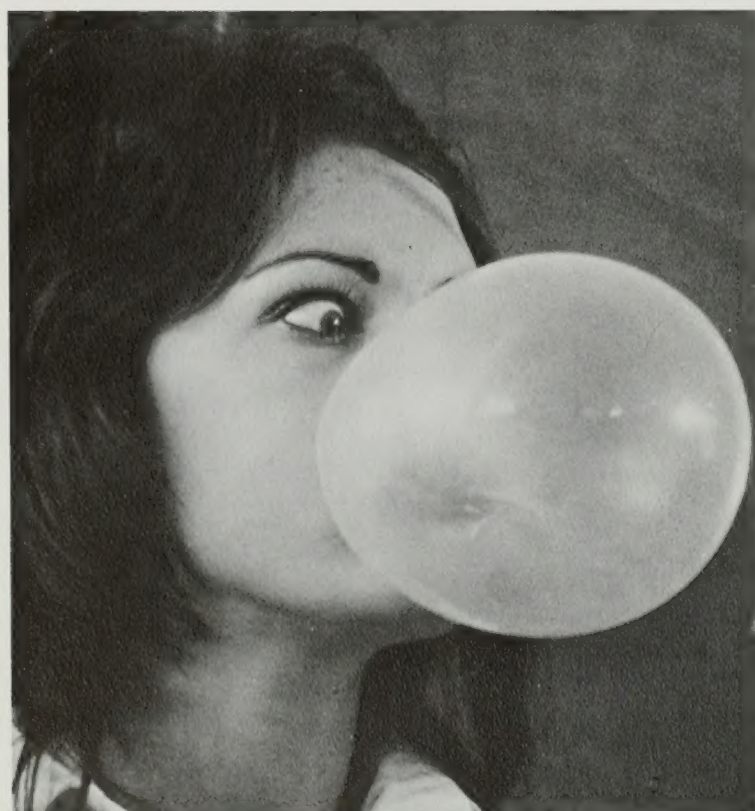

Riding piggyback isn't the easiest way to make a touchdown, but who could turn down a free ride.

Wrestlers usually find themselves in strange entanglements. What do they do when they get stuck? Raise a hand and ask for help.

Two hours are up and it's time to walk the dinosaur. Life's rough when your friend is a pet dinosaur as Floy Hullinger well knows. He's making the prehistoric facsimile at home and works on it during lunch hour at the barber shop at 67 W. 200 N. in Provo. "I'm going to make a caveman suit to go with it — then give kids rides on my friend," says Hullinger.

Debbie Anderson "blew" her chance to win the bubble-gum bubble blowing contest.

For The Fun Of It. —Roger Hatch

Although being a student at BYU is a lot of hard work everyone has experiences that are humorous and cheering. Many experiences, while not humorous to those experiencing them at the time, are fun to look back on in retrospect. The following pictures are a sample of some of the lighter moments taken from the past year's activities.

Gordon Benson, a sophomore from Clearwater, Fla. examines his entrant in the frog jumping contest.

Up to his neck in work is Darrell B. Parry of the BYU grounds crew, but Al C. Stephens is staying on top of the job. The pile of leaves is the largest in the world they claim.

Sophomore Bruce Midgley, dressed up like a mummy by a friend, draws a few smiles from fellow classmates while waiting for class to begin.

Student Nurse Kay Warburton seems to be saying "Are you sure you got an A at giving shots?" as fellow student Janine Remington is about to give her an injection.

Brigham Young's statue captured the dubious honor of being dubbed "Cupid '74" by Valentine's Day jokers.

The apple that caught the eye. Once detected, Wendy Webb, a BYU student tastes the fruit . . . a moment's study . . . and Bleah! The sweet look will never lure her to the bitter fruit of the ornamental crab apple tree again.

BYU has been experiencing rapid growth in recent years. Among the many new buildings to be constructed recently was the Engineering Sciences and Technology Building, dedicated in February of 1974. The building boasts many modern, advanced methods and equipment for learning and for research. Shown on these pages are a few of the facilities of the building and a few of the people that are involved with the building.

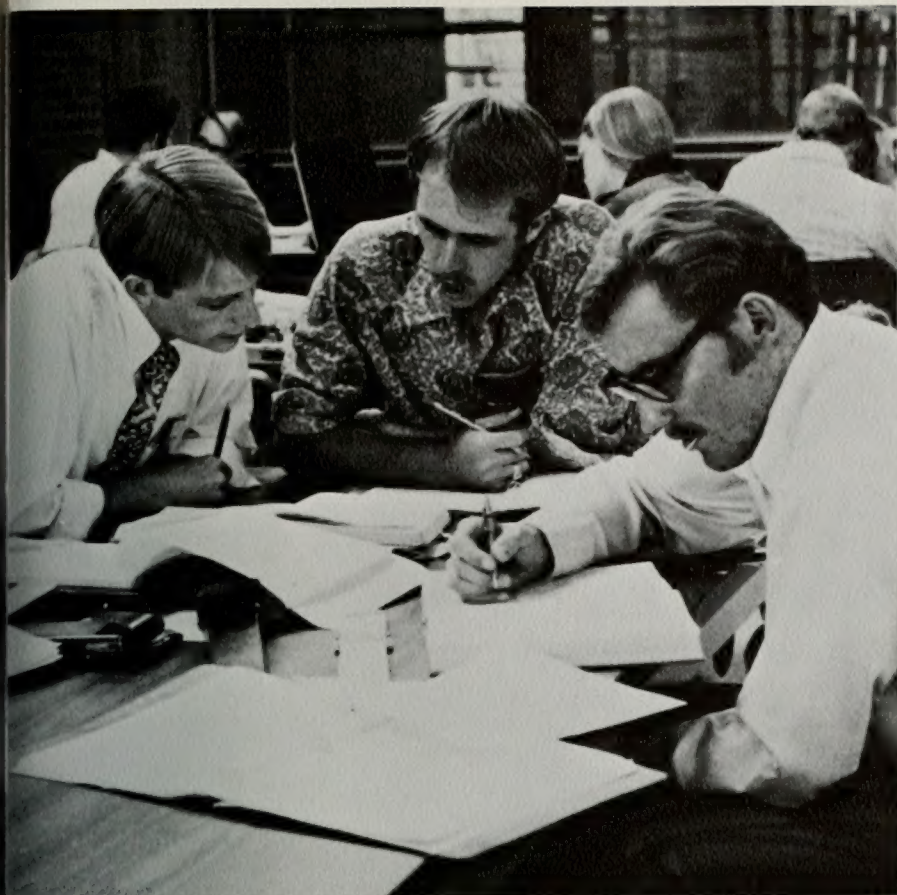

Above: Dean Armin J. Hill and Assistant Dean Dick W. Thurston discuss plans for the use of the new engineering building. The Engineering Sciences and Technology Building is pictured beyond the Former BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson addressed the audience at the dedication of the Engineering building in February.

In the college commons area difficult class problems are worked out. Greg Frandsen, Rich Turner and Clair Condie mull over brain-teasing homework.

Arnold Wilson, Associate Professor of Civil Engineering teaches his class structural steel design. Students say he can never be found without a smile.

Abdul Razzak, graduate student in Civil Engineering, uses the Marshall Stability Test on a core sample. The device records the optimum asphalt content for a maximum stability of the sample.

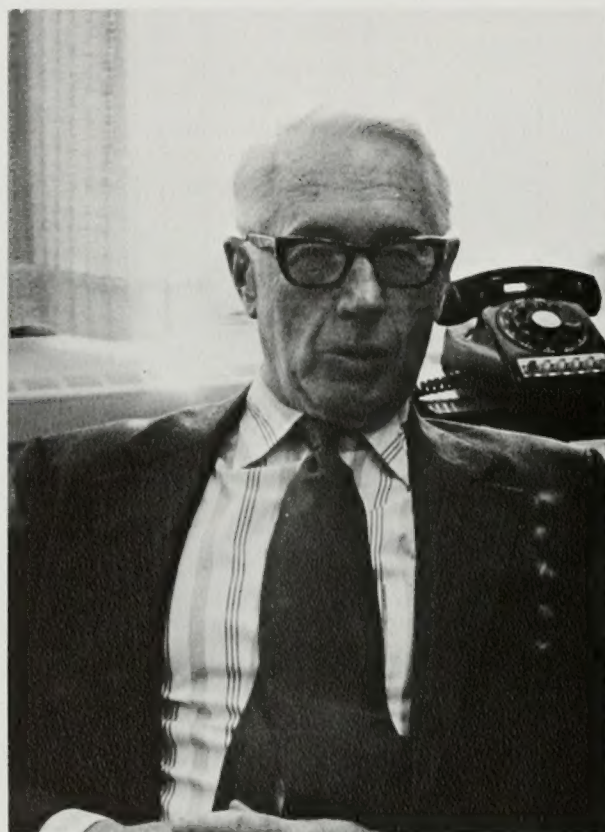

Herb Robertson, a graduate in electrical engineering, holds a crystal made in the laboratory. "This is only a sample we use to study crystal growth", said Robertson. Crystals are important in making transistors and diodes.

DR. LAEL J. WOODBURY, center, congratulated Dr. Lorin F. Wheelwright and Pres. Dallin H. Oaks when named new dean of the College of Fine Arts and Communications.

Special Tributes To . . .

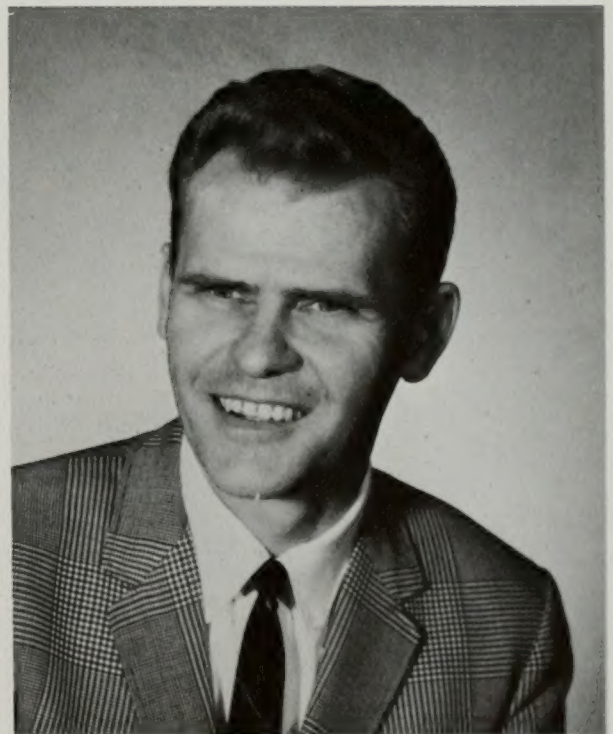

DR. WELDON J. TAYLOR, dean of the College of Business, at BYU since 1957.

LYLE S. CURTIS, assistant dean of Student Life, friendly, quiet, efficient.

R. LORIN F. WHEELWRIGHT, leaves manship of the College of Fine Arts to become assistant to the president, director of the BYU Centennial.

SWEN C. NIELSEN left his position as head of BYU Security to become the new Police Chief in Provo.

KARL G. MAESER, whose spirit still inspires the educational process, deserves some appreciation.

We would like to express our deep appreciation for all those whose words have been used in this book.

Acknowledgments

We are grateful for the Daily Universe Staff and photographers for the use of their equipment. We thank all those photographers whose work is used in this book and who helped put this book together, including Burt Fox, Mark Philbrick, Winston Tyau and George M. Brown.

Thank you to President Dallin H. Oaks for his assistance; also to The Church Department of Public Communications, Eldon K. Linschoten, and Elder Marion D. Hanks for their help and the use of pictures of the Brethren and others in the possession of the Church.

We deeply appreciate the faculty for taking time to pose for faculty pictures in this book. We are aware that they are busy people and made time for these out of their schedules.

Special thanks to Nelson B. Wadsworth and Max C. Wilson for their great assistance in acquiring pictures for this book. Special thanks also to the BYU Photo Studio and the BYU Public Communications Office and Edwin Butterworth.

We would like to thank our adviser, Merwin G. Fairbanks, who has given much more time and effort to the preparation of this book than most advisers are obliged to. We greatly appreciate him and his efforts.

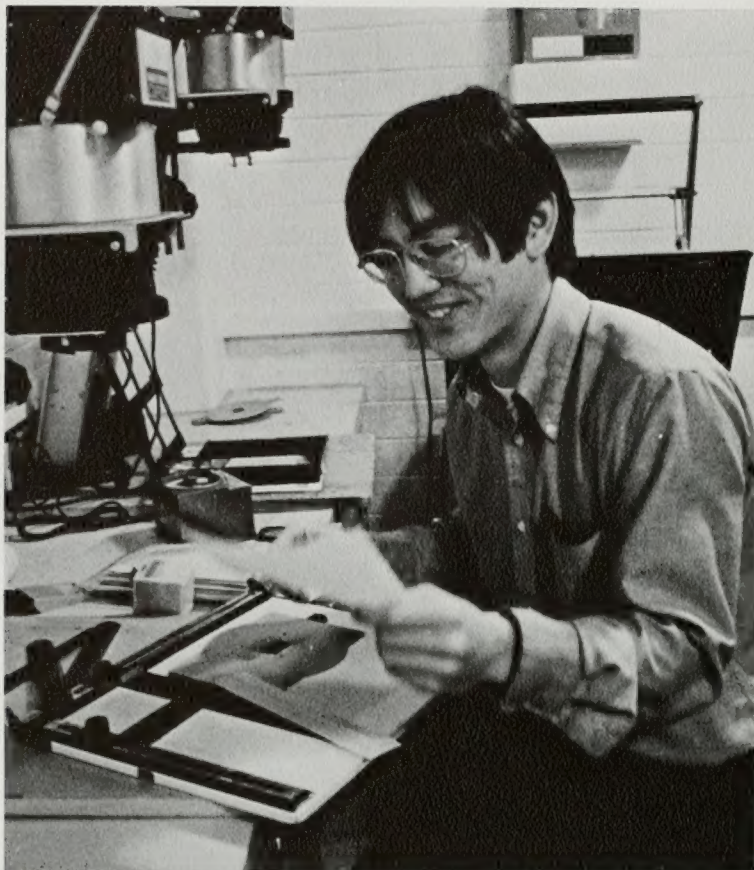

Thank you to all of you who helped the BANYAN in any way. We could not have put the book together without the valuable assistance of hundreds of people.

A special note of appreciation to our publishers, Community Press for their patience and understanding.

We sincerely hope that you will enjoy this BANYAN for years to come, remembering the many blessings you have enjoyed here at BYU this year. We pray that you will "counsel with the Lord in all thy doings", for he will guide you in his paths if you strive to find them. May those of you leaving BYU find peace and joy in your lives. May those of you returning have a prosperous and joyful summer. May you all be true to your testimonies and those truths you now cherish.

Special thanks to Winston Tyau and Mark Philbrick for their efforts in photography of the pictures in this book. They did an outstanding job and made this book possible. Thanks to Martin L. Miller for the use of his farm and his fine horse, Miller's Hi-Life, pictured above.

*Yesterday is already a dream, and tomorrow is only a vision . . .
but today well-lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope.*

The BANYAN was a dream, with the hard work and hope of people with such spirit it couldn't help but succeed. A book to keep the memories permanent. We hope it will be enjoyed and cherished. See you next year,
